Overview

Below are the words in the Academic Word List (AWL) developed by Averil Coxhead at Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand. The list contains 570 word families which frequently appear in academic texts, but which are not contained in the General Service List (GSL). The 570 word families of the AWL are divided into 10 lists (called sublists) according to how frequent they are. Sublist 1 has the most frequent word families, sublist 2 the next most frequent word families, up to sublist 10, which has the least frequent. Each sublist contains 60 word families, except for sublist 10, which only has 30.

Guidance for study

When studying vocabulary, it is not enough to focus on meaning. In order to be able to use words actively in speaking or writing, you need to know information such as grammar and pronunciation. Use a good dictionary to help you. For example:

benefit (n) of	What are the benefits of studying academic vocabulary?
benefit (v) from	Students can benefit from studying more vocabulary.
beneficial to	Studying vocabulary is beneficial to your writing and speaking.
benefit#drawback	... the benefits clearly outweigh the drawbacks .

analysis	analyse
/ə/	/ə/

involve in	He was involved in a lot of criminal activities.
involvement in	What was his involvement in the crime?

financial reward/gain	You need to find a job you are interested in, not just think about the financial reward .
<input type="checkbox"/> <input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/> <input type="checkbox"/> <input type="checkbox"/>
finance	financial

significantly greater/more than	There are significantly more male than female teachers at this school.
